

I am passionate about making the world happier and healthier through software development and technology. My experience in software development, web consulting, and project management from my time in real estate speak to the qualifications for many jobs and allow me to be a valuable member of your team and start contributing immediately.

I've recently completed Thinkful's software engineering program, where I studied front-end and server-side development. I applied those skills by building a responsive reservation full-stack application.

In addition to those skills, debugging as a software engineer taught me to be resourceful and focus on details. Further, my experience as a realtor gives me an extra edge in being self-directed with an ownership mindset. Finally, as someone who has worked in multiple team environments which involve critical thinking, careful planning, and empathy for those I have served, I can be a good candidate for your team.

I look forward to speaking with you further about my qualifications. You can contact me at (323) 919-5035 or at gvill005@gmail.com. Thank you for your time and consideration.
